

ts of
ture,
this
tion
ern
ing
nd
ay.

After a visit to Palm Springs Modernism Week in 2011, Brian Eberhart, a retired orthodontist, and his wife, Lisa, quickly realized their one-time trip had turned into something much more. "We fell in love with the city, the architecture, the weather, the mountains and the varied outdoor activities. We were tiring of the harsh winter climate of northern Indiana," says Lisa. By 2013, Lisa and Brian had met with a realtor from the Paul Kaplan Group, Gary Johns, who showed them several Mid Century Modern listings as well as an available empty lot in the Chino Canyon area of northwest Palm Springs.

